

As the following lines were written in the interest of mankind, and by Mr. Stewart, I would recommend that they be sung at all the gatherings. True, "Old Father Time" is
"Let dogs delight to bark and bite."
Or show the back of your head.
Let dogs eat sleep, while farmers sleep.
"For God has made them so."
Let dogs come forth to fill the earth—
The lean, the lank, the low—
Or track at night the wether's flight.
"For God has made them so."
Let dogs roam through grassy pastures,
To hunt the track or ewe.
Let dogs yell round, as well as howl,
"For God has made them so."
Let dogs keep their eyes open,
A down dog in town,
And let their greed on cotton feed,
"For God has made them so."
Let dogs eat bugs—dead sheep to dogs—
Raise cotton here below
"For God has made them so."
"For God has made them so."

Col. Stoddard Johnston for Governor for the State of Large.

We are pleased to learn that the chairman of the State Executive Committee does not join forces with the Courier-Journal in its effort to cram Tilden down the throat of the Kentucky Democracy, whether they want him or not. While an earnest supporter of Mr. Tilden, Colonel Johnston recognizes the fact that there are at present serious obstacles in the way of his nomination, and he used his influence in having the State convention called at as late a day as possible, in order that the Kentucky Democracy might have all the lights to intelligent and influential action that it will be possible to obtain before the meeting at Cincinnati. When our delegates shall assemble at Lexington on the 17th of June, the Republican nomination will have been made, and its reception by the country at large in a measure made known. Nearly all, if not all, of the other States will have appointed their delegates to the National Democratic Convention, and Kentucky will be in the most advan-
taged position possible for acting wisely and well. Such being the case, it is
Col. Johnston's desire that there be no dragooning for Tilden or any other man, but that we be left free to take such action as shall appear to an enlightened and untrammelled part of the great Democratic party most likely to secure the triumph of our principles at the November election. If Tilden shall then appear the man most likely to lead the Democracy to victory,
and to the securing of all that properly belongs to the victors, Colonel Johnston will strive for an instruction
for Tilden, otherwise he will oppose such an instruction.

This is a position that every true Democrat can indorse, and we take it that no true Democrat can indorse any other. We want the influence of such a man as Colonel Johnston in carrying out our contract to roll up 60,000 majority in Kentucky for the nominee of the Cincinnati convention, whether he be Seymour, Tilden, Hancock, Bayard, or any other representative Democrat, and for the purpose of putting that influence and those liberal and common sense views in a position to accomplish the greatest good, we nominate Col. J. Stoddard Johnston, of Frankfort, as one of the electors
for the State at large, to be voted for by the Democracy on the 23d day of next November. No man in the State is possessed of more of that conservative that comes from a broad comprehension and thorough knowledge of State and National politics.
In no man's veins is there a more constant flow of pure Democracy undefined. Further than that, we have a suspicion, amounting almost to conviction, that in no other Kentuckian is there bottled up more good mass-
aging, campaign, stump speeches.
We feel assured that the press of the State, without exception, will indorse
the nomination, and that a big majority of the people's meetings on June 5, will instruct their delegates to carry out the purpose dimly set forth in these few incongruous remarks.—

I have never known a Christian,
however humble his pretensions,
either to renounce his religion, or to turn Atheist, or skeptic, at the approach of death.

I have never known a Christian to send for an infidel, for the purpose of learning or drawing support from infidelity on a death-bed.

I have never known a convert made to Universalism, by the probability of a speedy summons to the bar of God.

But I have known many sinners to regret that they were not Christians, and many Christians to confess their negligence, and speak of it as a source of grief.

We therefore conclude that every sinner should become a Christian, and that every Christian should be more faithful.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOLUME IX.—NUMBER 6.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1880.

WHOLE NUMBER 422.

What Hopes Cost?

In the multitude of items that make up the Deficiency Bill, which passed the House of Representatives a few days ago, is one "for contingent expenses of the Executive office, including stationery, one thousand dollars," for the current fiscal year.
There is no excuse for any deficiency
in that office, and this loose practice of voting away the people's money on false pretenses deserves the severest reprobation.

Before Gen. Grant became President, the sum voted for contingent expenses was small, yet abundant for the office. Until the last year of the civil war, one thousand dollars per annum was appropriated for Mr. Lincoln. In 1864 the appropriation was raised to two thousand, on account of exceptional demands on the Executive office.

The Republicans in the Forty-second Congress not only doubled Grant's salary, in violation of the precedent which had stood untouched
from the foundation of the Government, but they increased the pay and emoluments of all his surroundings,
and voted six thousand dollars a year
for "contingent expenses of the Executive office," or three times as much as the highest sum ever received by Mr. Lincoln.

Last year Congress appropriated
for contingent expenses of the Executive office, including "stationery thereof, six thousand dollars." And now,
before nine months have passed away,
this money is all gone, and the Fraudulent President asks for a thousand more. We undertake to say, and all experience justifies the assertion, that six thousand dollars a year cannot be legitimately expended for proper contingencies of the Executive office, because the only expense to be incurred
is for ordinary stationery and postage stamps.

This money is practically an addition to the salary of the Executive,
and was so utilized, partially, by Grant.
Hayes has turned fully three-fourths of it into the fund for maintaining his personal household, and in that way
has saved so much of his regular pay.
No man ever occupied the Executive Mansion heretofore who made a business of converting the office
and its opportunities to money hoarding, as Hayes has done, and that, too, by the meanest of contrivances. The cant about temperance is a mere dodge in the line of economy
for it is notorious that the scruple disappears when the expense falls on somebody else.

The cost of keeping up the Executive establishment has increased out of all proportion to any necessity that exists for the expenditure. It is not the dollars and cents alone that provoke criticism upon this extravagance,
but the far more serious consideration
that it is a departure from the simplicity of the fathers, and is an attempt to imitate the pomp and parade
of monarchical governments.

Take the items of 1879 as illustration:

Compensation of President	$50,000
" private secretary	2,500
" assistant secretary	1,500
" two Executive clerks at	$2,000
" stenographer	1,000
" steward	1,000
" messenger and usher	1,200
" furnace keeper	800
" one night watchman	900
" one night orderly	1,200
" two day waiters at $1.40	500
" one usher at secretary's	1,200
" door	1,200
" two doorknockers at	$1.50
" one clerk	1,300
" one clerk	1,300
" one clerk	1,300
" one clerk	1,300
" four messengers, to wait	1,100

on the three clerks and telegraph operators nominally, but really servants, at $1,200
Two horses for messengers, to be furnished by the Secretary of War, nominally for use of messengers, but really for secretary's carriage, cost not given. Items.
Contingent expenses..... 6,000
Grounds south of Executive Mansion..... 5,000
Refurnishing, repairs, and greenhouses..... 25,000
Total..... $119,900

In addition to these charges, fuel and light are supplied free, there is a large kitchen garden attached to the premises, and there are grounds that furnish hay for the horses. In fact, the occupant of the White House is
at no expense but for the food and dressing of his family, and most of the former comes from the Commissary Department of the army, at wholesale prices for the choicest articles.
This is the bill for one year of a Fraudulent President who is believed to have invested over one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars of his pay and perquisites since March 4, 1877.—[N. Y. Sun.]

One and two are "nice" to do, three and four are pleasing more, five and six are easy tricks, seven-eight continue straight, nine and ten give joy,
but when eleven comes you're in a fix;
twelve, the things begins to mix; thirteen—"Eureka"—not so fast, for thirteen-fourteen comes at last—and then your joy of life is past.

A Sad Case.

Andrew Engleman, the little white boy who has lived with Alfred Donahi, of color, ever since he has been in Clark, and whose case aroused the sympathies of our people to such an extent, died last Friday morning, of brain fever, aged 11 years. His funeral was preached by Rev. G. C.
Keller at the Presbyterian church, and
quite a number, both white and black,
were present. Thinking that a true history of his case would interest our readers, we obtained from Donahi the following statement: Donahi formerly lived in Boyle, about seven miles from Danville, and was owned by Hon.
Paul J. Donaghy, the present representative from that county. After emancipation he lived in a little house
of his own, and on going to the door on the morning of March 6, 1879, he found a basket containing a white boy infant about three weeks old. In the basket he also found some articles of clothing for the child and a note commending it to his care, and stating that its grandfather, Chris Engleman, a wealthy farmer of Lincoln, would pay him $100 per year for his maintenance. He accordingly took the child, and from that time until his death provided for him with commendable care and the greatest kindness he was able to afford. Donahi says that he afterwards went to see old man En-gleman, who again agreed to fulfil the promise made in the note, but afterwards declined to do so, and never gave him a cent as long as he lived.
He died last year, and is said to have left a good estate. Donahi says the child's father was Ephraim Engleman, a son of Chris Engleman, who committed suicide before the child was born because his father refused to allow him to marry the child's mother who was his own cousin, a Miss Mary Thurman, who married a man named Bercaw before Andrew's birth. Ber-caw died, and she then married a man named Highgate and moved to Illinois. Donahi has several letters in his possession from the relatives of the child, whose full name was Andrew Simon Jackson Engleman. He was quite a sprightly lad and had been going to school for some time, having been enabled to do so by the liberality of Mr. Barry Taylor, of Newport, who spent several months in Winchester and became interested in the little fellow. The ladies of the Presbyterian church were also especially kind to him.—[Winchester Democrat.]

Speed in the Maritime Provinces.

As an illustration of the time-tables on some of our railways, we have the following: In a passenger car
on a certain railway in New Brunswick, each branch of which terminates in an important town, sat a traveler from the West. He had bought a ticket to the junction of the branches, and before arriving at this station the conductor, as usual, took the ticket.
When he finally went round to collect the tickets before arrival, the traveler, who was still on the car, presented another ticket which had been used as far as the junction on a former occasion. "Why was not this ticket used before asked the official.
"Well," replied the traveler, "when I came this way before, I was in a little bit of a hurry, and concluded to walk from the junction to town."

The supplement to this story is about a road in Nova Scotia. The driver whistled "down brakes."
"What is the trouble conductor?" excitedly asked a passenger. "Cow on the track," coolly responded the conductor. The man was satisfied.
Shortly afterward, "down brakes" was again whistled. "What's the trouble
now?" cried the same passenger.
"Cow on the track," was the reply.
Great heavens," said the man,
"haven't we caught up to that cow yet?"—[St. John (N. B.) Telegraph.]

A WOMAN'S UNWAVERING AFFECTION.

—A special to the Kansas City Times, from Marshall, Texas, says:
"Edward Louery, a foreman of the Texas Pacific Railway, who was run-over by a train last week, and so terribly injured as to make his death momentarily expected, was married today to his fiancée, a Miss Self. The ceremony was a peculiarly solemn and touching one. A few intimate friends were present. The wounded man was propped up in bed, and made great efforts to pronounce his part of the marriage vows, but speedily became so weak that he could barely move his lips. The young bride is a beautiful girl, scarcely nineteen years of age,
and has quiet, interesting manners.
She has been constant in her devotion to her lover since his terrible misfortune, and this last act is at the same time an eloquent tribute to her noble affection and the fidelity of her sex."

First Romance of the Sea Spring.

It is moonlight on the hill. From out of the trees a gentle zephyr creeps to rob the hyacinth of its perfumed breath, and adown the garden walk
the whippoorwill lends his monotone
of sadness unto the balmy night.
Sleep, with brooding wings, sits silent o'er the scene. But, hark! it is the tinkling guitar strummed by the lonely August. He comes. Beneath the vine-garden window in the ghostly gloom he pauses, and up the flower-trellised wall he shoots a melancholy tenor fraught with the passionate inquiry, "Must I leave thee here alone?"
No answer returns save the haunting echo and the low clicking of a distant door. The scene changes.

It is the back-yard tableau. A white-robed old man bends above a chained dog and soothes his too eager spirit as he loosens the collar. A low voice says, "Seeck him, Bull—take a short round the rose-bush." A flash—and the old man is alone.
The clatter of a fallen guitar comes from the front; a sound like the rush of a steep-chase nearing a hedge is borne back, and neck-and-neck two figures cross the picket fence to disappear down the dim perspective of the deserted street. Then the old man meets Bull as he returns on the outer walk, and removes in a discouraged manner a dark object from his foaming mouth, while the animal retires to his kennel in silence. The door opens and shuts upon the white-robed form and all is still again. But as he gets in bed and moves the old lady's feet
out of the warm place, he mutters,
"Bull is gettin' old, an' serenades don't pay dividends like they used to, but if the business keeps up, I think you will be justified in startin' another patch-work quilt, Maria. That last fellow left real cassumer."

What sort of sample did you get?

Needs for Small Gardens.

People who grow largely for market,
know as a part of their business,
how many garden seed to sow, but this is not always the case with the man or woman who has but a small garden. For these we give the following:

- Asparagus, bed of 15 square yards, 1 pint.
- Beets, row 50 feet, 2 ounces.
- Cabbage, bed of 8 square yards, 1 ounce.
- Carrots, drill of 120 feet, 2 ounces.
- Carrots, bed of 12 square yards, 2 ounces.

- Endive, 4 square yards, 1 ounce.
- Bush beans, row 80 feet, 1 pint.
- Leek, 2 square yards, 1 ounce.
- Lettuce, 4 square yards, 1 ounce.
- Onions, 9 square yards, 2 ounces.
- Parsley, row 80 feet 1 1/2 ounces.
- Parsnips, drill of 200 feet, 2 ounces.
- Peas, early, row 60 feet, 1 1/2 pints.
- Peas, large, late, row 80 feet, 1 1/2 pints.
- Potatoes, row 30 feet, half peck.
- Radishes, 4 square yards, 1 1/2 ounces.
- Spinach, 10 square yards, 2 ounces.
- Spinach, drill of 120 feet, 2 ounces.
- Turnips, 4 square yards, 1 ounce.

MORE CORY.—When Congress

Green-Harig trial and Kellogg-Spof-ford contest shall exist only in dustgathering records; when the August election and dog days are passed, and another Electoral Commission shall have folded its tents like a band of Gypsies and as silently stolen away from the Democracy the fruits of another Presidential victory—can any rural rooster rise up and tell us how,
when all these things have happened,
he will answer that call that comes
like the voice of fate—"More Cory?"

There are now in the Treasury

vaults, in round numbers, thirty-seven millions in standard silver dollars,
twenty-one millions in subsidiary silver coin, and one hundred and forty-six millions in gold. Mr. Sherman is greatly troubled about the accumulation of silver, but the far greater accumulation of gold and its refusal to circulate, or to stay out when put out,
are things that do not trouble him in the least.

The term, which is so expressive and significant to every Virginian, is said to have its origin as follows: During the protectorate of Cromwell, the Colony of Virginia refused to acknowledge his authority, and declared itself independent. Shortly after, when Cromwell threatened to send a fleet and army to reduce Virginia to subjection, the Virginians sent a message to Charles II., who was then an exile in Flanders, inviting him to return on the ship with the messenger, and be King of Virginia. Charles accepted the invitation, and was on the eve of embarkation when he was called to the throne of England. As soon as he was fairly seated on the throne, in gratitude for and recognition of the loyalty of Virginia, he caused her coat-of-arms to be quartered with those of England, Scotland and Ireland, as an independent member of the Empire, a distant portion of the Old Dominion. Hence arose the origin of the term. Copper coins of Virginia were issued even as late as the reign of George II., which bore on one side the coat-of-arms of England, Ireland, Scotland and Virginia.

ADVICE TO GIRLS.—Just a few words girls, and don't get mad. Go slow on getting acquainted with every stranger that stops a day in town.
Men are on the lookout for young women to flirt with. Don't try to be the first to catch a commercial traveler or receive his company at your homes or go with him to social gatherings. This class of men make fun of you to their friends. Don't "snub"
the young men you know, to gain momentary attention of strangers. It never pays. You mean all right, but an unjust public is sure to hint many wicked things about you. Many young ladies fall out of notice, socially, by being ruled by a desire to flirt with strangers. Take the advice we offer, and see how much happier
you will be when you settle down in houses of your own.

Avoid getting into the habit of taking medicine for every little ailment.
It is not only very expensive, but it is useless and harmful. When sickness comes nature will nine times out of ten bring you out all right if there is care about diet and a little good nursing, though of course in the treatment of some serious maladies, a physician should be called in. You certainly have observed this fact among your neighbors, that those who are always swallowing medicines appear to derive no benefit therefrom, and that the more they take the more they seem to need. "Throw physic to the dogs."

Mr. Tilden is the peer of any man in America in intellect, and when it comes to integrity the Grants and Shermans and Blaines of the Republican party suffer by comparison. The fraud which seated Mr. Hayes is a demon that will not down at their bidding. They dread to give the people a chance to render a verdict upon their crime against liberty. The conspirators are afraid of Samuel J. Tilden.—[Hartford (Conn.) Times.]

A little girl the other day told the school-mistress there was sickness in her house, and was sent home to learn the name of the disease. Next morning after roll-call she bashfully
advanced and said: "Please, Miss, ma
says we have a little baby at our house
but you needn't be afraid, for it ain't catching."

A wicked contemporary says: "Instead of the 'rag baby' troubling senators and our representatives in Congress it is the real live baby that startles at threshold, and urges attention at every outlet from the halls of assembled wisdom."

To Our Girls.

Now that you are being courted,
you of course think it is all very well,
and that it will be nice when you get married. But it won't. He thinks he's going to keep on this high pitch of love all the time. But he won't.
He doesn't know himself, and you don't know him. It can't last. It must cool down. When he sees you as many times a day as he wants to
and maybe more; when he sees your head down up regularly every morning in curl papers, and the bloom is all off the eye; when your home contains a good deal of wash-tub, cradle and cook stove, he won't stand for one hour in front of the house out in the cold watching the light in your window. He'll be thinking rather of getting out of the house. Young woman, protract this courtship as long you can!
Let well enough alone. A courtship in hand is worth two marriages in the bush. Don't marry till Christmas atter next.—[New York Graphic.]

It now comes out that Grant has already spent $50,000 upon his own boom and it was only here a short time since that the Republican papers were talking of poor Grant,

lack of patriotism on the part of the American people. Yes, how we pity poor (pap sucking) Grant.—[N. Y.

We had intended to take no part in the race for Circuit Judge, further than to put in a good word occasionally for a Lincoln County man, when not at the expense or disparagement of the other aspirant, but the accusation of waving the bloody shirt, brought against us by Judge Owsley in his speech here on Monday, calls for some notice on our part, and compels us to mention some things we would not have otherwise done. Our readers will remember that in referring to the candidacy of Mr. Alcorn, we gave a short history of his life, and, among other things, said that he had returned from four years service in the "Lost Cause" an exceedingly poor man. This was done with a view of showing how fast he had risen by indomitable energy and perseverance to the rank of the best lawyers in the district and how he has accumulated a comfortable competency for his family. But Judge Owsley, who left the Federal army to come home to take a civil office, questions our right to refer incidentally to Mr. Alcorn's military record, and holds Mr. Alcorn responsible for what we have said. It is far from us to wish, after these many years since the war, to excite again the bad feeling that that war engendered. We are proud alike of the brave soldiers, who did their full duty on either side, and would do honor to the man who fought for his principles, be he Federal or Confederate, especially if that man was strong enough in his convictions of right to have fought to the end. We are not surprised that Judge Owsley should prefer that military records should be kept out of the race, and we agree with him that they should be, but since he has sprung the question, and seems so afraid that Mr. Alcorn may gain some advantage by reason of his service in the Confederate army, we are willing to state, for Judge Owsley, that it is currently reported that he regrets even the short service he gave the Federal cause, and would, if he could, blot that part of his life from his memory. This is what he is said to have given utterance to in a speech at Lexington, on a certain occasion, and it is his real statements the "Confederate element," as he might term them, will certainly see that his election is not damaged because of this mistake of his life. If we have quoted the Judge incorrectly we offer him space to contradict the reports, and in the mean time, if it can be successfully done, we propose to get at the true inwardness of the matter. We disclaim any personal feelings against Judge Owsley, and would scorn the idea of treating him unfairly. He is a tip-top Democrat and has made a good Judge, and if he gets the nomination no one will be stronger in his support than we. In the meantime, however, while disclaiming any intention of waving the bloody shirt, we must be allowed to remark that Judge Owsley seems a little too anxious to make a mountain out of a mole hill.

GOVERNOR BLACKBURN continues to turn his machine and grind out on an average of a pardon a day. Thus are the courts thwarted, the country is flooded with red-handed criminals and everybody is damaged except the assistant Secretary of State who gets his $2 every time a pardon is granted or a fine remitted. How long, oh Lord, are we to endure such flagrant violations of the true intent of pardoning power?

It will be seen that the meetings of the Judicial and Congressional Committee have been called for the same day, April 27, at Stanford. This was done to save the Committeemen an extra trip, as, so far as they go, the members of the Judicial are the same as those of the Congressional Committee.

MR. PRESIDENT JOHNSTON, OF THE PRESS ASSOCIATION: On the motion made by Emmett Logan, that the meeting of the Editors be postponed till next fall, and seconded by Brother Marks and others, please record our vote in the affirmative. Too many other things to attend to next June.

The Somerset Reporter has changed to a quarto, and was booming with news last week. Rucker has a No. 1 nose for news and is giving those Palaskians an extra good paper. Hold yourself to the helve, old fellow, and all will be well.

The Senate has rejected the nomination of J. Madison Wells for Collector of the port of New Orleans. Mad's only show is a place on the next Returning Board, and that's slim one.

Silver dollars of the coinage of 1864 are valued by collectors at $1.00. There are but twelve of that date known. Have you one of them?

The Cincinnati Commercial shows its ignorance of Kentucky Republicanism when it says they will not instruct for Grant.

The National House has passed a bill appropriating $40,000 for a Custom House at Paducah, Ky.

Blaine's Washington friends count up 350 votes for him on the first ballot at the Chicago Convention.

The Times suggests the name of D. Howard Smith as a delegate to the Cincinnati Convention.

Call for Meeting of Democratic Judicial Committee.

The Chairman of the Democratic Judicial Committee in this, the Eighth Judicial District, are requested to meet in Stanford on Tuesday, April 27, to adopt a plan for nominating a candidate for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney.

W. L. CALDWELL, Chairman.

Call for Meeting of Congressional Committee.

The members of the Committee of the Eighth Congressional District will please meet in Stanford on Tuesday, April 27, to adopt a plan for nominating a candidate for Congress.

W. P. WALTON, Chairman.

The following is a list of those composing the Congressional Committee:

Adair—H. H. Hester, Columbia.

Anderson—W. E. Bell, Lawrenceburg.

Boyle—W. L. Caldwell, Danville.

Cassidy—John W. Whipple, Liberty.

Garrison—H. T. Noel, Lancaster.

Lincoln—R. S. Withers, Stanford.

Mallison—J. D. Hines, Richmond.

Mercer—J. H. Grimes, Harrodsburg.

Polaski—S. A. Xeno, Somerset.

Russell—S. P. Collins, Felo.

Taylor—C. W. Wright, Campbellsville.

Wayne—Leland Lloyd, Monticello.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

A bill to incorporate the Carpenter & Hestonville Turpentine Company has passed both houses.

A bill to incorporate Walnuts College at Paint Lick, Ky., and one for the benefit of S. M. Peacock have passed both Houses.

A bill to allow juries two cents a mile for one trip of necessary travel to and from their homes to the Court has passed the House.

The Senate rejected the House bill to branch the Penitentiary, and the House has defeated the Senate bill to hire out the convicts over 600, and things are in a muddle. The body ought to adjourn and go home and hang themselves.

W. C. P. Breckinridge has drafted a bill, which has been favorably acted on by the Senate Committee, to establish an intermediate Court of Appeals. We hope such a bill will be passed. The State has offices and officers enough already.

For examining and extracting the ball from the body of Hiram Tuttle, Drs. J. F. Peyton and O. H. McRoberts, of Stanford, asked the Legislature to give them $100, but they only allowed $40, and took occasion to abuse the doctors generally at that.

A bill was before the House this week to exempt persons between the ages of 18 and 45 from military service on the payment of 25 cents annually, the fund raised to go toward increasing and better maintaining the volunteer State guard, but it was rejected.

The question has been raised as to which has the necessary in the Legislature, the second-class lawyers or the one-horse doctors. Judging from the reports of the special committee, composed entirely of doctors, we are forced to believe that the one-horse gentry has it.

Both Houses have passed a bill and it is now a law, that hereafter the County Treasurer of Lincoln will be elected by the County Court instead of being appointed by the Judge, and that his compensation is to be fixed at an amount not exceeding two per cent. of the funds handled.

The following has become a law and is now in force: 1st. Juries in Justice's, Police, City and Quarterly Courts may consist of six men qualified as now required by law. 2d. The pay of jurors in said Courts shall be fifty cents for each juror in each case. Provided, if the same juror serves on more than two juries in one day he shall not be allowed anything for such excess. 3d. The jurors summoned in each case, when a fee is allowed, shall be allowed to collect the same from the party demanding the jury, as fees are now allowed by law to be collected; and the entire jury fee shall be taxed as costs, and recovered from the unsuccessful party.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

Kansas has instructed for Jim Blaine for President.

The Nebraska Democrats have instructed for Tilden.

Louisville and Nashville Railroad stock is selling in New York at 102.

The Ohio Legislature has passed a law permitting Cincinnati to issue bonds for $200,000 more, for terminal purposes.

The Chief Engineer of the Cincinnati Southern R. R. says there is no foundation for the report that Kentucky River bridge had given away four inches, and was in an unsafe condition.

Christine Cox, who it will be remembered mysteriously murdered Mrs. Hull, in New York, will have to swing the Court of Appeals having confirmed the decision of the lower court.

Owing to the great increase in business and the consequent demand for more rolling stock, the Cincinnati Southern Common Carrier Company have increased the capital stock to two millions.

The Richmond and Southern railroad traversing the best portions of this State and Virginia, will be 600 miles in length, and cost $20,000,000. The company expects to build the road without local aid.

The receipts from customs for March were nineteen millions, and from internal revenue about nine millions. The reduction of the public debt for the month was between thirteen and fourteen millions.

All the railroads in the State have agreed to take delegates to the Louisville Republican Convention, which meets next Wednesday, at reduced rates, the L. & N. putting them at one and one-third fare for the round trip.

A negro named Ben Johnson, waylaid for the purpose of robbing the other day, Miss Annie Ball, who lives near Winchester. He was arrested, identified and sent to jail, from which a mob took him and hung him to a tree in the Court-house yard.

The Pulaski Circuit Court sent seven prisoners to the Penitentiary, but the individuals who are imbued with the idea that the people elected him to turn the pardon machine solely, set two of them loose before they even darkened the doors of the institution.

Including the two men, Robt. Anderson and Chas. Webster, who were hung in Louisville, last Friday, eight men were hung in the United States. A wife near by in Washington D. C. had his head jerked clean off by the fall, presenting a horrible scene.

Mr. Townsend, of Illinois, moved last week to suspend the rules so as to discuss the Commerce Ways and Means Committee of the House. A wife near by in Washington D. C. had his head jerked clean off by the fall, presenting a horrible scene.

and materials used in the manufacture of printing paper on the free list, and put it on its passage. The motion was defeated by 112 to 80.

On Wednesday last the celebrated summer resort, known to thousands as the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, was sold at public auction. Mr. Wm. A. Stewart, brother of the late Gen. J. E. B. Stuart, U. S. A., was the purchaser at $370,000, a low price it was thought by many persons interested. The new proprietor proposes very many improvements.

Under the suspension of the rules, Weaver, the Illinois Greenbacker, got his resolution requiring that hereafter all metallic or paper money for the use and convenience of the people shall be issued alone by the Government, and when so issued it shall be a full legal tender for the payment of all debts before the House Tuesday. After considerable debate it was rejected by a vote of 84 to 117.

GARRARD COUNTY.

Lancaster.

Prices for new crop wool are ranging from 38 cents to 42 cents per pound here.

Trains now arrive here from Richmond at 11:52 A. M., and from Stanford at 2:50 P. M. This change, we think, is very gratifying to our people.

J. T. Ross, of Philadelphia, bought of W. S. Beazley an excellent coach gelding at fancy price. Mr. Beazley has also purchased several fine geldings during the past two weeks. Elijah Lear bought the Hubble stallion, Stonewall, for $275.

The County Sunday School Convention was held at Artichoke last Sunday. A large crowd present, a beautiful dinner, much good music and several worthy speeches—among the number was the address of Elder Allen, of Danville, on the Philosophy of Sunday Schools.

The protracted meeting held at the Christian Church by Elder Sweeney, closed Monday night with thirty-six or more additions. This powerful man was much appreciated by our people, and it was greatly regretted that he was unable to remain longer. The two baptisms at the river—one last and the other this week—were very largely attended. Rev. Barnes has been sent for and is expected here some time soon, so as to keep the religious ball rolling in our community. Lancaster is rapidly and surely changing.

Prescott—Hon. W. O. Bradley and Col. J. K. Faulkner are absent, and we understand are in Washington, D. C. On political matters, we suppose, Miss Jeanie Locke is visiting Miss Goodloe, of Lexington. Miss Ella Landrum is visiting Richmond. Elder Estepree wears a long face. Wm. Greenleaf returned home last week from Memphis, where he has been employed in the service of the Adams Express Company, and left for Lexington to take charge of the office there. Senator J. H. Bruce was home from Frankfort Saturday. Miss Pattie Beazley, Wallace Varnon and sister, Miss Mary, of your town have visited us in the last few days.

Our Hall was well filled on Saturday night last, by people from town and adjoining country who were highly entertained by Janansek and troupe in Shakespeare's most favored tragedy, Macbeth. We see, perfectly represented, the full effect of ambition in the person of Lady Macbeth. What a wonderful and powerful incentive this passion is, when it takes possession of the mind—how it will gorge and feed itself upon all of the pure affections, under sensibilities and generous emotions, and how it will bring about the gratification of its desires, even at the expense of every good, magnanimous and just principle of humanity. We see Duncan, owing to his better nature, refraining from the perpetration of such terrible and horrible acts, but perverted and lured on to the commission of the fearful deed by the intelligence, determination and influence of his evil inspired Lady. The characters were well represented, and all of the points forcibly presented. Shortly after the performance closed the winds were loosed and the heavens opened, and we were vividly impressed that it rained.

Fishing and kite-flying are the principal out-door amusements herabouts.

W. Adams & Co. will open another lot of new spring prints first of next week.

E. Best bought of LaFayette Brown, Wednesday, a fine roaster gelding by Morrison, dam a Black Hawk mare, for $300 cash.

Samuel Riddle, alias Swayne, who escaped from the Mt. Vernon jail, last Saturday night, is reported to have been seen in the vicinity of J. E. Kirby & Co's tannery, on Wednesday.

On Friday last Wm. Burton, who has been employed at W. S. Hume & Co's distillery at Silver Creek since Christmas, was arrested by two detectives from Illinois on a charge of horse-stealing.

James Hagerty, foreman of J. B. Kerby & Co's tannery, who was recently shot by W. G. Smith, is lying in a very precarious condition, and his recovery is regarded impossible. A priest was telegraphed for Wednesday to attend him.

J. H. Risher, the defaulting Cashier of the Louisville Savings Bank, has been sentenced to the Penitentiary for one year. The jury recommended him to Executive Clemency, and of course Blackburn will pardon him. He is certainly more deserving of it than Atwood.

Low Prices at W. Adams & Co's.—Spring prices, 81 cents per yard; brown sheeting, 91 cents; lawns, 10 and 15 cents; muskies, 75 cents per yard; best Rio cloth, 18 cents per yard; canned fruit and vegetables at 12 to 16 cents, for full three pound goods. Everything else in proportion.

Ground will be broken next week on the new turnpike leading from the Lancaster & Richmond road to a neighborhood road known as "Walker's Pike." The Southern terminus will be near Walnuts College, and the northern on the farm of Wade Walker, the route being nearly the entire distance along the course of Ferrell's Branch.

There is a fine prospect for fruit of all kinds in this section at present, and as the season is well advanced we may feel safe in predicting a large crop. If peaches escape frost this spring it will be the first time in six years. They are sometimes killed as late as the middle of May. The peach bloom is said to be very rich, which fact is usually received as an omen of a plentiful yield. Small grain is very promising.

PERSONAL.—Miss Mary Wood, of Hustonville, is visiting the family of J. C. McCormack, collector. A. M. Swope and brother, James, of Lexington, are at E. W. Ballard's. Capt. Thos. Hackley left for Jackson county Wednesday. "Thompson," Ramsey, of Richmond, the prince of merchants and clever fellows, was in town Sunday. Thomas Middleton, R. R. agent at Silver Creek, and wife left to visit friends in Harrodsburg on Tuesday.

S. W. Brown & Bro's store, at this place, was entered by burglars Sunday evening last, about seven o'clock, while the proprietors were at supper. The burglars effected an entrance through a side window by prying off two slats and taking out the top sash. They were evidently too shrewd to risk the chances of being caught with stolen goods, and contented themselves with taking an amount of change from the cash drawer. One of the thieves is supposed to be an invalid (?) and recently pardoned convict. With a Governor too loose to seek criminals punished, and a Legislature too weak and vacillating to pass a whipping post law, crime is destined to run rampant. And still the solons (God save the mark) at Frankfort bang away at an expense of hundreds of dollars a day, always moving something chimerical and accomplishing nothing.

ROCKCASTLE.

Mr. Vernon.

W. H. Albright is a candidate for Sheriff of Rockcastle county, at the August election, 1880.

Governor Blackburn recently appointed our young friend Jack Adams, Jr., of this place, a Notary Public. He is prepared to "sweat you" in good style, whenever you call on him.

By the trains arriving here on the Knoxville Branch reach here as follows: Going North—express 11:25 A. M.; freight 8:05 A. M. Going South—express 3:14 P. M.; freight, 5:11 P. M.

A violent and tremendous storm of wind, rain, hail, thunder and lightning passed over the town and county Saturday night. The storm raged from 11 o'clock till 1 o'clock. No serious damage reported.

The "Caneos" up at the Joplin House last week was a grand success. The dresses were "beautiful but not gaudy." The young gentlemen from Pine Hill shone like silver mirrors. They must come again.

The weather is bright and warm. The farmers are serene and happy. Log-rolling and ground-breaking are "the orders of the day." The festive, frolicsome frolics finds his praises at twilight in the marshes. It is a cheering season.

W. H. Albright adds the following year subscribers to his "Club" this week: A. J. Thompson, Jack McCall, W. H. Brannaman, Mr. Vernon, Ephraim Shuckler, Roundstone; E. A. Parks, Paint Lick; Miss Helen Conn, Brookhead.

The Republicans were duly notified ten days ago by written posters that the county convention to send delegates to the State Convention would be held at the Court-house last Monday. The day came but the convention was not held. Why, I am unable to say.

The report, which has obtained considerable prevalence here that the reason I have had no letter in the INTERIOR JOURNAL for three weeks was because of a fight between the editor and myself, is a malicious falsehood. I never fought with my pen, and my silence is due to absence from home.

The candidacy of Mr. W. H. Albright for re-election to the office of Sheriff is announced elsewhere. Of his qualifications it is unnecessary to speak. While in office he has discharged his duties faithfully. It is doubtful if he will have any opposition for re-election. At any rate he will go in by a handsome majority.

All the miners in the employ of the various coal mines at Pine Hill and Livingston are on a "big strike." They "struck" for higher wages some ten days ago, and all efforts to compromise matters have thus far proved unavailing. The strikers are firm and their employers are firm, and the result cannot be guessed at with any degree of certainty.

John, Ben, and Doc. Denny went one night last week to the corn-crib of their uncle, Simon Denny, and feloniously carried off several barrels of the old man's corn which it cost him much toil and sweat last Summer to produce. They were arrested but the "guiltless" one escaped, and the Commonwealth failed to make out her case against the other two.

Last Monday was Quarterly Court. There was a large docket, but with few contested cases. The celebrated case of Carol Martin vs. John Anglin, brought by change of venue from Seaford, Cane, was, after a bitter contest, decided in favor of the plaintiff. Two cases of the Commonwealth vs. J. W. Goff, for selling whisky, were continued till the 17th inst.

Mrs. T. K. Adams, of Garrard, is visiting relatives in this county. Mrs. R. P. Gresham and Garrard Thompson, of Livingston, were in town last Saturday. Charles Kirtley, Esq., has returned, much improved in health, from London, where he has been attending the Laurel Circuit Court. Miss Mee Adams, of Bryansville, is a guest of Mrs. Jack Adams. F. L. Thompson left on Monday's train for Louisville to purchase new goods.

Last Saturday night while the elements were at war without, Saml. Swayne alias Riddle, the solitary prisoner confined in our county jail, removed a couple of loose planks in the floor and working a pole through the foundation, pushed his body through and again ascended the fresh air of liberty. Swayne was in on a charge of burglary in two cases—for robbing the store of Willis Adams, Jr., and that of Williams & Miller last Winter. He had escaped once before since his arrest, but was recaptured. He will make his whereabouts scarce this time if he is smart. Had he been properly confined in the cell the escape could not have been effected. In justice to the jailer, Mr. Houk, his statement should be given. He says he locked Swayne securely in his cell the evening before. Swayne must have played some sort of a trick on his keeper and prevented the bolt from slipping into its place. The jail escapes during the past few months demonstrates conclusively that if our county wishes to keep her criminals she must build a new and substantial jail.

Broadhead.

The preach crop promises to be the largest ever known in this section.

—It is safe to say, and we do say it on good authority, and if the proposed severance of this county from its old Judicial District were left to the voice of the people it would be opposed by at least two-thirds of them. Better to be king—but we won't say it.

—James Seythmore, a recent acquisition to our numbers, is furnishing bread with his present supply of gas, which, for the brilliancy of its jets, quantity and cheapness, is unprecedented. The merchants complaining, however, that it is most too attractive; that is, it attracts most too many dead beats around their stores.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Hudnal, of this place, is dangerously ill. Mrs. Mattie Adams and Miss Mee Adams, of Garrard, are visiting the family of Capt. Jack Adams, of Mt. Vernon. Mr. W. E. Perkins and lady, of Pulaski, are visiting the bachelor brothers Albright. Mr. Riall and wife, of Indiana, are here with the intention of locating. J. H. Vanhook is the present chap of the yardstick behind the counter of Mr. T. S. Frith.

The Deputy Sheriff of Garrard created a considerable sensation at this place a few days since by blustering around with a shot-gun and two pistols, inquiring for a certain party. Many tongues were bennumbed with terror, and all admitted that they saw blood on the face of the moon. We sharpened our pencil and stood with note book in hand, wrought up to a state of the most intense expectancy, but alas for the reporter's luck, when the victim was at last found, it was only for a social glass—nothing more serious at least.

Central Kentucky Medical Association.

The next quarterly meeting of the Central Kentucky Medical Association will be held in Lancaster, the third Wednesday in April, commencing at 10 o'clock A. M. The opening paper will be read by Dr. Wm. Huffman, of Lancaster, on "Pneumonia, its Pathology and Treatment." Dr. A. D. Price, of Harrodsburg, Chairman of the Committee on "Practical Medicine," will read a paper on the subject. At this time delegates to the Kentucky State Medical Society and to the American Medical Association—the former of which meets in May at Lexington, and the latter in New York in June—will be elected. A full attendance is requested. Those having volunteer papers will please notify the Secretary ten days previous to the meeting.

STEELE BAILEY, M. D., Secretary.

KENDALVILLE, INDIANA.—The above named city is in Northern Indiana, situated at the crossing of the Air Line division of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. and the Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R. Kendallville, in a business way, "booms" all the time. It is more noted, perhaps, as being headquarters for the manufacture of the celebrated medicines, known as "Pneumonia," "The Flood and Liver Regulator" for which we are agents. If you have a cold remember Dr. Marshall's Lung Syrup, and if your blood is bad, or your liver out of order, try "Pneumonia." Trial bottles free. Regular size $1. Sold by Chemist & Druggist.

PERSONAL.

MR. D. B. EMMERTON and wife have gone to Louisville.

MR. JOHN McROBERTS is recovering from a lengthy illness.

MISS JANE REDD, a Rockcastle belle, is a guest of Mrs. J. H. Miller.

MR. W. H. MILLER left yesterday for a visit to Mr. Annie Rye.

MR. W. G. DREWAL, editor of the Enterprise, was in town on Court day.

JAMES M. J. DUNHAM was here Wednesday to see after the Owsley and Albert suit.

MISS LOU FULTON, of Louisville, was a guest of Mrs. D. B. Emmerton this week.

MR. MAJOR SAUNDERS, the charming widower from Crab Orchard, is visiting friends here.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK MAYNARD have moved from Greenburg, Ky., to Columbia, Tenn.

OUR Business Manager, Mr. T. B. Walton, Jr., is quite sick at the home of his father-in-law.

DR. R. C. MONTGOMERY, a physician for Johnson and other points to be absent about two weeks.

MR. FORTIS REID has returned from a visit to his sister, Mrs. D. B. Emmerton, in Mercer county.

MR. JAMES FORTIS, a young lady from Louisville, paid a visit to Mrs. S. Porter Stagg this week.

MRS. J. S. SEVERANCE and R. S. Lytle have gone to the cities for their Spring and Summer goods.

W. L. CALDWELL, Esq., Chairman of the Judicial Committee for the 5th District, was in town yesterday.

MR. JOHN H. CRAB, the well-known representative of Shipley, Crane & Co., Cincinnati, was at his home this week.

GEORGE DREWAL, Esq., was here Monday shaking hands like a candidate, but he solemnly avers that he is not one.

DR. ED. ALCOCK was in town this week, but he flew so fast it was hard to keep up with him. Since the loss of his watch (which was stolen the other night) he doesn't seem to know how to regulate his movements.

MISS F. M. McROBERTS, George Davidson, Dr. Carpenter, Dr. R. H. Hill, Jr., and Robert J. Breckinridge, Jr., aspirants to the judgeship, were granted certificates of honesty, probity and good character by the County Court Monday.

OUR friend, G. A. C. Rochester, Esq., of St. Louis, has become an editor, "The Weekly Register" is the name of the paper, and it is published in the interest of the Young Men's Christian Association. His new duties do not in any way conflict with his legal profession, to which he still holds, and in which he is yet destined to become a shining light.

The following subscribers have come to this week: Jacob Guest, H. E. Miller, J. F. Edin, J. T. Bingham, J. F. Hildon, Hiram Roberts, Crab Orchard, see W. H. Albright's club of five in Mt. Vernon letter. Miss Mollie Owens, Plato, Ky., by Col. S. M. Burdett; Rev. J. M. Bruce, Louisville; J. M. Martin, Craig Lynn, Hall's Gap; Don't Stagg, Jr., Milledgeville; J. T. M. Lewis, Danville; A. LOCAL MATTERS.

It is safe to say Judge Durham is a candidate for Congress.

SEED SWEET POTATOES—Including some Russell County Brazilian at Owsley & Higgins'.

MR. L. N. CRAB has added clothing and boots and shoes to his stock. Read his "ad" and call on him.

ATTENTION HORSE MEN.—Pole-Evil and Fistula cured for $5; also any horse driven in harness or galled to the saddle by F. D. Albright, Stanford, Ky. 20-30.

THE SUNDAY MONDAY.—Judge M. H. Owsley and J. W. Alcorn, Esq., candidates for Circuit Judge, addressed the people here on Monday. They both made strong appeals for the nomination, but with the greatest respect toward each other, and no unpleasant personalities were indulged in.

GERMAN Mill Seed at Owsley & Higgins'.

THE THERMOMETER.—Has been down to the freezing point during the last two days, but we are told the frost has not been damaged as there was little frost.

SALE.—At the sale of Jas. J. Dudders, deceased, last Saturday, Mr. Jas. Dudders bought the threshing machine for $500, and Mr. Frazure the undertaker's outfit for about $400.

SPEAKING.—J. W. Alcorn, Esq., candidate for Circuit Judge, will address the people at Parkville to-morrow (Saturday) at 10 A. M., and at Perryville, same day, at 3 P. M. Give him a hearing.

NO OPPOSITION.—Mr. O. H. Waddle, we learn, has very sensibly declined to make the race for Commonwealth's Attorney. This leaves the track clear for Dick Warren, who will be elected with a whoop.

STANFORD has voted to repeal the Sabbath day, and we may expect now to hear the carpenter's hammer and the blacksmith's anvil furnish the music for those days. If not, why not? A mechanic has just as much right to labor on Sunday as a bar-keeper.

CORRECTION.—It is said of figures that they will not lie, but a careless compositor succeeded in making them prevaricate like thunder last week in a local concerning the change of schedule. The piece should have read that the Richmond and Livingston trains arrive here at 1 P. M., and the Louisville train at 1:45 P. M.

BOY REMOVED.—The body of Mrs. Miriam McDonald, who died a month ago, was buried at the time in her mother's (Mrs. Martha Blackley) yard to prevent the doctors from getting it to ascertain the peculiar disease of which she died. Saturday, it was exhumed and placed in its final resting place at Buffalo Cemetery.

A BOSS APPLICANT.—A man from the knobs presented himself before our County Examiners and asked for a certificate as a school teacher. The first question asked him was, "Who was Lord Cornwallis?" This was a stunner, but after scratching his head a few moments he replied, "He was a European." When asked who was President of the United States, he answered quickly, "Horace Greeley." He did not get the certificate.

SILVER.—A couple at Crab Orchard married during the late war with an agreement between them that the wife should have all the silver that was taken in by their store. For a long time she barely got "pin" money, but she is reaping a rich harvest now of the "dollars of our daddies," while the old man don't see a bank note once a week. He wants to jump the contract but she stays right in the store and pockets the change as fast as it comes in.

JUST RETURNED.—After an absence of nearly two weeks, Mr. E. B. Hayden, of the firm of Hayden Brothers, Stanford, returned from a trip to the large cities of the East, whither he had gone in search of goods to furnish and fill up the two large rooms of their mammoth establishment here. We speak what we know from a personal inspection, when we say that never, in all our life, have we seen such exquisite and cheap goods. First in the market, our readers should go to see what they have, and our word for it, they will find all they want, at prices that will suit them.

THIEVES.—On Monday night thieves entered the sleeping room of Mr. Jas. Paxton, by raising the window, and took his pants, which, after rifling the pockets of a small amount of money, they threw back into the room. The same night the room of Mr. R. Carson, who lives at Pink Cottage, was also entered and $9.40 stolen therefrom. From the numerous other robberies that have recently occurred, it would seem that there is a regularly organized band of thieves now prowling around the country, and our citizens should be particular to fasten their doors and window blinds, and sleep with their hands on their pistols at night.

IN ALL THEIR BEAUTY.—We do not ask you, reader, to take our word alone for what we here say, but we do hope you will, without delay, visit the large establishment of the Hayden Brothers, here in Stanford, and see for yourself what they have brought to this market. In all time past we have never seen such lovely and exquisite patterns of dress goods, from calico and ginghams to silks and satins, from gloves, handkerchiefs and hose to linens and piece goods, and notions of all kinds. Go to see these charming goods. It would please and instruct you, and the prices are as low as you could find in Louisville, Cincinnati, or New York.

EXTENDED.—By a recent Act of the Legislature, the town limits have been extended from one-third of a mile each way from the Court-house to three-quarters of a mile each way. By order of the Board of Trustees, Engineer S. S. McRoberts measured the distances Saturday, and fixed the boundaries on each of the pike leading from town. On the Crab Orchard pike the limits extend to a point between Mr. J. H. Shanks' property and Captain Thomas Hutchinson's residence; on the Lancaster pike it takes in the toll-gate and goes to the little bridge beyond; on the Danville pike the toll-gate is included and the line goes nearly to Squire J. S. Murphy's house, and on the Hustonville pike it goes about midway the Cemetery. When the census is taken Stanford will show a greater increase of population, proportionately, than any town in the State.

THE ELECTION OF TOWN TRUSTEES.—On Saturday resulted in the selection of Messrs. J. N. Craig, J. N. Davis, T. T. Davis, Wm. H. Anderson, M. D. Elmore, Wm. Daugherty and A. G. Pendleton, who are to fill that thankless office for the next year. As usual, the question as to whether or not votes shall run at large on the streets was voted on. The negroes voted in a body for turning them loose, and with a few whites, who want to raise them at the expense and vexation of others, the hogs were again permitted to roam the streets at will and forage on gardens at pleasure. Thirteen whites, several of them members of churches, voted in favor of allowing the bar-rooms and other establishments to keep open on Sundays, and that question carried by eight votes, but it will avail nothing since there is a law on the Statute books fully covering such cases, which our more moral citizens intend to see executed. It was absurd to vote on the question at all, as Stanford nor any other town has the right to set at naught the laws of the State, and it can do no more than show the animus of the people. There was no interest manifested in the election, as is shown by the fact that only 122 persons, in all, voted.

TOO LATE.—Our street-little correspondent's letter from Crab Orchard was received too late for publication, we are sorry to say.

BUSINESS! WANTED.—A young man with from $200 to $500 to learn a light, genteel, and very profitable business, which will give quick returns of over 200 per cent. References required. Apply, personally, at this office.

GOING WEST.—Two families numbering twenty-two persons, of Lee Co., Va., passed through town yesterday in their wagons, on their way to Iowa. They had already been on the road a week and they expect to be there for three weeks to come.

SPECIAL COURT.—By the request of the parties, Judge Breckinridge, of the Common Pleas Court, came on Wednesday to try the cattle case of Owsley vs. Alford, but an agreement to take it to the Circuit Court was effected, and the Court adjourned.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—During the terrible rain storm on Saturday night lightning struck the dwelling house of Joseph Hawkins near Mason's Gap, knocking down the chimney and tearing off shingles in profusion. Mr. Hawkins and his wife were stunned but no serious damage was done.

LECTURE.—Rev. John C. Young will deliver his lecture on Ingersoll in the Presbyterian Church here next Tuesday night. The staple announcement of the coming of this gifted orator will be sufficient to draw a "crowded" house. Let everybody go. Admission 25 cents. Proceeds to go to charitable purposes.

GONE.—Last Monday, Capt. E. C. Lynch, of the Calendar Clock Co., with his clever force of assistants, left for Williamstown, Ky. During his stay here Capt. Lynch has won the reputation of being an honest gentleman, who looks on favors and pays as he goes, and our citizens with one accord regret his departure and wish him great success in his new field.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH.—CHITTY, the man who was with Arch Rowle at the time he was mortally wounded, and who fired several shots at his antagonist, was shot from ambush, near Milledgeville, a few days ago and wounded—no, however, very seriously. It was reported that Williams or Powell did the shooting, but we understand that at the time Williams was at his school in Casey, and that Powell can prove an alibi.

CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS.—Is now undergoing a thorough renovation preparatory to opening on the 1st of May. For the months of May and June have been fixed at the low price of $10 per week; for July and August it will be from $10 to $15, according to size, location and length of stay. Col. Shelby, the proprietor, is making preparations for the finest season since the war, and judging from the improvement in the times, his hopes will be fully realized.

ADVANCE AND RETREAT.—GEO. Hood's book, is now for sale by Mr. George P. Bright, the agent, and all orders left with him or Mr. A. A. Warren, at the Postoffice, will be thankfully received. The book is sold to raise a fund for the helpless children left by Gen. Hood, and all who feel themselves able should invest in the book, which is pronounced an excellent one. Mr. Bright has refused to take the usual agent's commission, and the whole amount he receives for the books will go directly to the fund.

"A SAD CASE."—On our outside appears an article from the Winchester Democrat giving an account of the death of Andrew Engleman, said to be an illegitimate son of Eph Engleman, dead. From the friends of the family we learn that there are several inaccuracies in this statement. In the first place Eph Engleman did not commit suicide, but died, so the doctors say, of a well defined case of Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis. Miss Thurman, who was Mrs. Bercau at the time, did not claim that it was Eph's son, Engleman's child after his death, and although Mr. Chris. Engleman, his father, never believed that it was Eph's child, yet he proposed to her that he would provide for her and the child if she would leave her husband, who wanted Mr. Engleman to pay him a large sum for the support of the child, which was born shortly after the marriage. It is also claimed that Mr. Engleman paid the old colored man several hundred dollars during his life time. Mrs. Bercau, now a widow, and living in the West, is said to have an exceedingly handsome woman, and to have received great attention from scores of men before the birth of the child.

RELIGIOUS.—

—On the 22nd of this month the Transylvania Presbytery will meet here.

—The Western Recorder wants to know if it is really true that the Rev. Mr. Kirk "sprinkled" Arch Rowle on his dying bed. Yes, sir, it is true beyond the shadow of a doubt. Now what are you going to do about it?

—The Rev. Rutherford Douglas, pastor of Pisgah Presbyterian church in Woodford county, has been elected Chancellor of Central University, at Richmond, to succeed the Rev. R. L. Breck, D. D., resigned. The Lexington Press pronounces him a ripe scholar and a profound theologian.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society was held last Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church, and it was a pleasant and profitable one. An excellent essay entitled "Hypocrisy," was read by Miss Bettie Carpenter, a selection from a missionary paper by Miss Bettie Dennis, and Mrs. S. C. Truettman made a pointed speech in the interest of the cause. The music was furnished by Misses Addie Purnell, Bettie Carpenter and Mary Logan, and added much to the pleasure of the meeting. At the next meeting Misses Purnell and Ira Smiley and Mrs. F. J. Anthony are expected to entertain the Society with essays. Miss Bettie Parsons, the recording Secretary, shows herself to be an excellent and painstaking officer.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—A lot of 1247 lb. cattle sold in Bowling Green last week at 41 cts.

—L. Shelby Tevis sold a combined Beecher horse this week for $200.

—Dogs killed 31 of 56 head of sheep belonging to Col. Brodhead, of Shelby last week.

—Ten yoke of oxen were sold at Catham, Del., last week at prices ranging from $150 to $165 per pair.

—Henry Bruce exhibited in our office this week two perfectly formed Plymouth Rock hen eggs, minus the shell, joined together by a meaty looking substance. If it could have been hatched a curiosity equal to the Siamese twins might have been produced.

—The fine red cow, "Nannerle 2nd," property of Col. C. H. Rochester, dropped a splendid milk calf on Monday, the 5th, sired by "Bill Duke of Lyndale."

—Jas. A. Miller bought of Wm. Thompson a car-load of 3-year-old mules at $100 per head, which he shipped to Atlanta, Ga., Saturday. (Mt. Sterling Sentinel.)

—Mason, Shannahan & Co., contractors on the Big Sandy, bought 40 mules and 8 horses at Flemingsburg last week, leaving there the same little sum of $5,000.

—W. H. Barr, of Sonoma, Ky., sold to J. E. Harris 31 calves at $21 per head. He has still on hand, at home, 41 fine grade steer calves, all red, and ten months old.

—Forty-two thousand acres of mining lands in Scott county, Va., have just been purchased by Gen. Imboden, the Confederate cavalry leader, for Northern capitalists at fifty-five cents per acre.

—PARIS COURT DAY.—About 400 cattle, mostly sold at prices ranging from 3 to 4c. The supply of mules was not large, not more than sixty having been offered; all at prices ranging from $75 to $135. Of common horses there were many on sale with prices well sustained, ranging from $25 to $100, according to quality. The number of people was greater than any court day for several months.

—About ten years ago Mr. Jas. A. Harris, a young man, bought a wild orange grove, situated on Orange Lake, in Florida, and being building the four trees. He sold portions of his tract, and retained about 185 acres. A Cincinnati, who has recently visited this grove, states that last year's crop, from 10,000 trees, was sold to Maxwell & Co., of New York City, for $19,000. Harris expects $10,000 from it next year.

—According to reports received by the Cincinnati Enquirer from many points in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, there appears that from ten to twenty per cent. greater acreage of wheat was sown in 1879 than the previous year, and that everywhere, except in some parts of Northwestern Ohio and Central and Northern Indiana, the prospects are good for an unusual fine yield. As to fruit, the reports are almost uniform that there will be an abundance of all kinds unless injured hereafter by frost.

—LOUISVILLE AND CINCINNATI.—In the former city cattle have declined and are now quoted: Good to extra shippers, $1.10 to $1.40; best butchers, $1.40 to $1.50; light stocks, $2.25 to $2.75; thin to common, $2 to $3.40. Hogs—choice $4.40 to $4.55; fair, $3.90 to $4.10. Sheep and lambs are lower; extra, $5.25 to $5.50 per cwt; common, $4.00 to $4.50. In Cincinnati shipping cattle are worth $12.25 to $14.55; butchers grades, $3.75 to $4.25; common, $1.75 to $3.50; selected butcher hogs, $4.50 to $4.65; common, $3.50 to $4.20; sheep common, $3.50 to $4.50; choice $5 to $6 per cwt.

—COUNTY COURT DAY.—Owing to the beautiful weather, and to the fact that the ground was too wet to work, a large crowd was in town Monday, and a good deal of business of all kinds, except in the stock trade, was transacted. Auctioneer H. T. Bush contributed the cause of the drop in the scarcity of feed and absence of grass at present. He says there were from 350 to 400 cattle on the market, and that he offered some 200 head, but only succeeded in selling about 40, at poor prices. The class of stock was mostly young scrubs from Tennessee, and common stock from the county. Capt. Higgins says he sold a few good cattle at $3 to $3.75 per cwt, and a number of scrub calves and 2-year-olds at from $5 to $14 per head. No mules offered. Plug horses sold at higher prices.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

Engleman's Mill.

—Mr. Sam. Engleman's horse ran away last Sunday morning, and completely demolished his rockaway.

—Where is the man that came Waddling out; has he Waddled back again? [He has for a fact.—Ed.]

—Mrs. Mary Bryan caught forty fish one day last week, among the number was a three and a half pound jumping perch.

—Gabe, a little two-year-old boy of Mr. G. H. McCauley, while playing with an ax last Sunday, cut one of his feet almost off.

—It is reported that the young gentleman of this vicinity, who is putting up such a handsome residence, has gone all the way to Missouri to lay in his furniture.

—We can boast of having the best female school in the State. She will not weigh over ninety pounds, but she can take an old mule market and kill a guinea off hand out of the tallest kind of a tree.

—We have been informed that Capt. R. D. Logan, of this county, is a candidate for delegate to the Cincinnati Convention.

—A more deserving man cannot be found in the Democratic ranks.

—Mr. Henry Bruce, Esq., of Boyle, died on the 3rd inst., after being a patient sufferer for eight or ten years. His funeral was preached at Providence Church Sunday evening by Rev. Samuel Ayers; his remains were then followed to the Danville Cemetery by a large concourse of relatives and friends. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community, especially those of us who have lately passed through the same sad ordeal.

Waynesburg.

—Gabe McMullin is the happy father of another boy, which is not much of a new item now-a-days.

—J. W. Alcorn "shook hands" with every body in our burg last Saturday, and on Tuesday our people received a like operation from Judge Owsley.

—SUCKERS.—Miss Malinda Padgett is confined to her bed with pneumonia. Mrs. Dock Coffey is also confined to her bed, and many others are "just drooping around," unable for business.

—Mr. S. P. Gooch sold to one Mr. Webster 100 acres of unimproved land at $1 per acre. Dock Coffey sold his span of mules and harness, last week, to David Elliot for $205 cash. M. T. Reynolds bought another mule last week, for which he paid $25. He says he "threw in the old beaten mare," and we think he did at about $40.

—Mr. Frank Zet is here taking down the steam-mill at Waynesburg Station, with the intention of shipping to Cincinnati. H. W. Caldwell is making preparations to replace it with another, which he thinks he will like much better. A Mr. Williams of Kings Mountain is preparing to remove and erect his steam saw-mill at J. M. Johnson's, two miles north-east of town.

—We came near having a wedding to report this week. Mr. James Webster, who left his wife some eighteen months ago, during which time it is said she filed a petition for a divorce, went last Saturday and brought her and his babe, which he had never seen, though about one year old, to this place, where they seem to be living and it is hoped may ever after live in peace and harmony.

—J. B. Horton and family moved out of town last week, and settled on a farm one mile north of this city. Frank and Jim Martin, two young men of 15 and 16 years, have moved to their father's corn crib, and are now entertaining their friends nightly with such sports as they can command. An older brother says the lads left their bedroom rather abruptly the other night when the storm threatened to overturn their dwelling.

—DEATH.—Mr. Henry Bastin, of whom we spoke last week, died with Pneumonia on Saturday morning. About noon Friday he told his friends he would leave them at midnight never more to return, and assured them that he saw nothing to obstruct his future happiness. He retained his right mind until death closed the scene. He leaves a wife and four little children, who should remember that their loss of a kind husband and father is his eternal gain of a home in glory. About 11 o'clock Friday night last Henry Oaks, a young man about 21 years of age, died of Consumption. He leaves many friends besides father, mother, brothers and sisters, who deeply mourn his early departure.

Hustontville.

—Planetary influences adverse again. Accounted for on the theory that all the planets have joined the "ring" of Saturn.

—Born, at Hustontville, March 25, to the wife of D. J. Newbern, a boy. Another grandchild for the youthful L. B. Adams.

—SKINNED ALIVE.—On Friday morning last the cheerful correspondent of the Danville Advertiser, who resides here, came to the consciousness that, like his great prototype, Cardinal Wolsey, he had, "in his age," "been tried naked to his enemies."

A burglar had entered his room during the night and carried off his clothing containing a fine gold watch and chain, besides memoranda and mementoes, ligatures and lancets, pills, papers and pomatums, and even a small amount of money! The clothing was found in the morning in the back yard, but the souvenirs—oh, where were they? The coroner can't find out.

—GRAND OPENING! EVERYBODY INVITED!—Front seats to be secured by applying at once to W. H. Smith & Co. On Saturday, April 10, their opening day, they will make the grandest and most gorgeous display of all the latest and most attractive novelties, in every department, ever thrown upon the market in Central Kentucky.

With enlarged and refitted rooms, their improved facilities for obtaining supplies, their favorable connection with Eastern cities, the experience and skill of their purchasing agents, their full staff of polite salesmen, and with reduced prices, justified by the admirable working of the cash system, they feel warranted in saying, come.

—"LONGER SORROW."—On Tuesday morning a run was made on the horse of W. H. S. & Co., for white handkerchiefs, enabling Green to close out the entire invoice. About noon was heard a sudden and simultaneous burst of uncontrollable grief and heart-rending lamentation. Young men in the pride of their strength, boys in their guileless and gushing ingenuousness wept together. Even the sympathetic and imitative negroes joined their voices, and in the absence of handkerchiefs, swathed their dusky visages with disheveled hats. The cause of all this grief was found in the fact that a certain learned Professor who has vacation some six weeks, and winning golden opinions (or silver equivalents) from all sorts of men (and women too) was taking his departure. Hine die lacrimae!

—There was a little row on the street. Tuesday afternoon, between John Allen and P. Doyle, growing, it is understood, out of a slight misunderstanding on a little financial matter between Allen and Capt. Powell. The matter was apparently adjusted satisfactorily. Between seven and eight o'clock the room over Peacock's Drug Store, which is occupied by the Allens, was fired on by some party on the street. The window was the first point aimed at, and the first and second shots struck near it. After an interval of several seconds (during which the young men having come down and entered the drug store) a third shot was delivered through the glass of the window, passing within a few inches of the person of John M. Cooper, who had just risen from his seat, perforating a fruit can on the opposite side of the store. About one o'clock two more shots were heard, the ball from one of which entered the upper room and was arrested by the bedding on which young Will Hocker was asleep. We have no police.

—FESTIVE.—It was the rare good fortune of your correspondent, on Tuesday, under the professional care of Dr. H. Brown and the spiritual guidance of Elder Stanley, to assist a large party of relatives and friends in celebrating the birthday of Dr. Clifton Fowler. The Doctor says it was a Centennial, but his young looking visitors that the most reliable record makes him just 47. At any rate it was the most delightful affair. The venerable Doctor was as genial as a boy; the good lady pleasant as a genuine Spring morning; the guests in admirably good humor, and the dinner substantially, abundant and elegant, and distributed with polished hospitality, was a stunning argument against criticism. A lecture of abstinence would not have passed in that assembly at any conceivable rate of discount. The Doctor was so well pleased with the ability and reliability of his guests, that he invited the same party to grace his next Centennial. If it should occur within the next twelve months most of us will try to see it.

BOYLE COUNTY.

Danville.

—Richard Mattingly (col.) was kicked by a horse in the Catholic Church yard on Saturday, and died in a few hours.

—Rev. J. D. Walsh will preach at the Broadway Methodist Church on Sunday morning next, and at night the Quarterly "Love Feast" will be held.

—Considerable local excitement has been exhibited here for a few days past over a bill before the Legislature to have our town Charter amended. Anything for a change, for a child can see that our town officers are trifling, and that our good times have gone to the everlasting holidays.

—A meeting of the Commissioners of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, in this place, is called for April 14, at 10 o'clock. The $30,000 appropriation improvement question will be discussed, and architects with propositions and plans to submit to a future meeting of the Board, are invited to be present.

—PERSONAL.—Will McKee left on Monday for Chicago. James S. Atkinson, former clerk at the Clumens' House, left Tuesday for Kansas City and the West. Han. R. H. Stanton, of Mayville, was in

Danville last week
